A Note from Our President

Hello fellow CARW members and friends. Last minute deals, politics, speeches, promises, and guarantees to perform seem to be hot topics before the primary on May 19, 2026. Have you made your decisions?

The new shiny, the old tried and true, American First candidates, MAGA candidates, or just, "Well, I think I would like to run" candidates. Weigh your choices, what they stand for, their character, their previous track records, and will they stay true and committed to what they said?

Our May meeting will present even more candidates for your review. Be prepared to have a nice lunch and meet the candidates listed in our newsletter.

OUR MAY SPEAKERS

Candidates for Governor

RICK JACKSON

A self-made businessman who rose from a childhood in foster care to leading a $3 billion enterprise, Rick Jackson is a conservative outsider focused on delivering results over rhetoric. His platform prioritizes cutting income and property taxes while leveraging his private-sector experience to reform government and the foster care system.

KEN YASGER

A 14-year military veteran, Ken Yasger has campaigned by walking over 1,200 miles across Georgia to connect directly with voters without big-money backing. He is running as a grassroots outsider who believes leadership should come from the people rather than a political machine.

Candidates for Lieutenant Governor

GREG DOLEZAL

An entrepreneur and State Senator, Greg Dolezal has founded successful companies and authored landmark conservative legislation regarding school choice and election integrity. His background combines high-level business technology with over a decade of ministry leadership at Passion City Church.

STEVE GOOCH

State Senator Steve Gooch is a vocal supporter of President Trump and a champion of the MAGA movement within the Georgia State Capitol. He is running to eliminate the state income tax, overhaul the property tax system, and secure Georgia's borders against illegal immigration.

BLAKE TILLERY

As Chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, Blake Tillery has focused on keeping state spending low while funding core priorities like infrastructure and public safety. He is currently leading the legislative push to eliminate Georgia's income tax and remains a staunch advocate for Second Amendment rights.

Candidates for Chatham County Board of Elections

VICKI BRADLEY

A lifelong Savannahian and experienced educator, Vicki Bradley holds a Master of Education and has served as a State Certification Officer. She is a dedicated member of the Chatham County Republican Party with a deep commitment to local public service.

JODY VOSS

Jody Voss brings over four decades of experience as a healthcare executive to her role as a conservative activist and experienced poll watcher. She seeks to apply her professional background in strategy and business development to advance GOP values within the Board of Elections.

JAMES HALL

James Hall is a former crime analyst and the current Vice Chairman of the Board of Elections, known for a professional, results-oriented approach to local government. He has been repeatedly recognized as Savannah's "Best Public Servant" for his leadership in civic organizations and his commitment to election integrity.
